Pleasant, Sunny Weather Helps to Swell Crowds At Easter Services Here

REV. DANIEL KEISTER, pastor of Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church, extends personal greetings to Albert Koonitz at the church door at conclusion of the Easter service. Ministers everywhere repeated the custom.

THE FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH was filled for two services Easter morning where Rev. Harold Deitch brought the message and News cameraman Larry Godard photographed these families leaving the church at the end of one service. It was a joyous day as young and old alike turned out to worship the Risen Christ.

TWO PRETTY MISSES dressed in their Easter finery were Kathy Benkeny and Louise Hanna, both freshmen at Hiram College.

PHOTOGRAPHED AT the First Baptist Church, where Rev. Ray Hunter spoke, were (l. to r.) Dian Morgan of Columbus, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morgan of the Washingtonville Rd., Mrs. Tony Frank and Mrs. Mary Durham. Although the air was a bit cool early Sunday, bright, sunny skies gave Salemites an opportunity to wear their new spring apparel on Easter.

MALVERN COACH GETS SALEM HIGH JOB

To Plan Shift In Canadian Reins

Pearson To Meet With Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker meets with Lester B. Pearson today to arrange the transfer of power to a new Liberal government for Canada.

The Conservative leader gave up Saturday and wired congratulations to Pearson after results of the vote from Canadian servicemen and their wives and veterans in government hospitals was announced.

The delayed vote handed the Liberals two more parliamentary seats to add to the 128 they had won in the election last Monday. This left the Liberals three short of a majority in the 265-seat House of Commons.

Confusion in the ranks of the Social Credit party threatened Pearson's chances of eking out a declared majority through support of the minority group. Social Credit leaders indicated he could count on their support on most issues.

Six Social Credit members announced Friday they would support the Liberals, giving them a majority of seven. Later Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit floor leader in the last Parliament, said three of the six had been misled and wished to have their names removed from the list.

But one of the three, Robert Beaulieu of Quebec, said he and most Social Credit leaders from Quebec, who make up the bulk of the party's Commons membership favor supporting the Liberals.

The deputy Social Credit leader, Real Caouette, said there is no rift in the party and that it will help the Liberals "as much as we can to the benefit and interest of the people."

A Social Credit caucus is scheduled Tuesday, apparently to try to clear up the confusion and work out a unified policy.

Diefenbaker's minority government collapsed in February after the U.S. State Department charged it was dragging its heels in U. S.-Canadian nuclear strategy.

Investigation Continues In Sub Disaster

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — A Navy court of inquiry today resumes its efforts to discover what swift disaster overtook the submarine Thresher in the depths of the Atlantic Ocean.

The ill-fated nuclear submarine with 129 men aboard plunged to a watery grave—some 8,000 feet deep—during a test dive last Wednesday about 220 miles east of Boston.

The Navy plans a brief pause in its search for the cause of the disaster to place a black and white floral wreath on the approximate spot below which the vessel lies. The only sign of the Thresher since her last communication with an escort vessel Wednesday morning has been bits of debris found floating in the area.

It is from the debris, the messages and the knowledge and ex-

Final Step Due On Regents Bill

Legislators Enter 15th Week of Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio lawmakers return to Columbus tonight to start their 15th work week and wind up action on a bill to create a board of regents to run the state's universities.

Everyone, apparently, is pushing for final adjournment in about another six weeks, but no one appears too sure that the goal will be met.

The board of regents bill has passed both houses of the legislature, but the House is reportedly not too happy about Senate amendments. The Senate struck from the measure all control by the regents board over creation of new degree programs offered by state universities. There have been reports the House will rewrite the bill.

Coming up for House vote Tuesday is a proposal to give merchants, auto dealers and others a $29-million break in personal property taxes. The measure would reduce personal property taxes from 70 to 50 per cent over a five-year period.

What has come to be known as the "hot wires" bill is up for a House vote tonight. It provides that where a utility's plans to extend lines conflicts with local zoning ordinances, the utility may

Luken Is 2nd To Announce Boost

JFK Skeptical on Steel Price Hikes

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy was reported today to be skeptical on whether the price increases announced by the Lukens Steel Co. meet the "public interest" criteria he suggested for the industry.

Kennedy, anxious to head off any steel industry rush to boost prices, held a series of telephone conferences Sunday after Lukens became the second company to announce price increases on part of its products.

The Wall Street Journal said today: "The nation's big steel producers, convinced President Kennedy will tolerate selective price increases, are expected soon to seek their first substantial price relief since mid-1958. Indications over the holiday weekend were that their move could start this week."

The Wheeling Steel Corp. announced increases in prices on a number of its products last Tuesday. On Thursday, Kennedy issued a statement on the Wheeling action.

Following Sunday's phone conferences by Kennedy from the holiday White House at Palm Beach, Fla., presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger issued a statement on the Lukens move in response to inquiries from newsmen.

The statement said: "The President's statement of last Thursday speaks for itself. The President said that it was important for the industry and the country that over-all price stability should be maintained."

Urgent Appeal Issued

Lag of Blood Donor Registration 'Alarming'

An urgent plea for blood donors for the Cleveland Regional Bloodmobile's visit to Salem Thursday was voiced today by Louis J. Raymond, chairman of the North Columbiana County Red Cross blood program.

Raymond said the paucity of those registering to date was alarming considering that the bloodmobile's visit is just three days away.

Only 42 persons have signed, Raymond said, with another 12 listed as possible "walk-ins." A total of 176 donors must be registered if the city is to meet its quota of 125 pints.

Raymond appealed to recruitment groups to intensify their efforts to secure donors. Persons who wish to give blood but are not contacted by a recruitment agency are urged to call the Red Cross office immediately for an appointment.

The bloodmobile will be station-

"While the statement did not preclude selective price actions up or down, the President did point out strongly the national interest in over-all price stability."

Lukens said a big drop in profits was the cause of its price hikes.

Adult Art Competition Won by Baby

SOUTH GATE, Calif. (AP)—Theresa Bates, the Grandma Moses of the falling diaper set, is in the midst of an art controversy today—and couldn't care less.

Theresa, at 22 months of age, is too young to care.

She was a prize winner in an art show for adults.

Some of the mature artists in the show called her work "a happy accident" and then angrily yanked their paintings from the show.

One artist who didn't remove his paintings was Albert G. Bates, Theresa's father. Bates, also one of the ten prize winners, entered his daughter's work.

The father said Theresa's prize work was done one night after she had watched him paint in the kitchen.

Compromise on Tax Cut Hinted

May Ease Way for Other Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of a White House compromise on tax-cutting proposals spurred administration hopes today for congressional approval of some other major segments of President Kennedy's legislative program.

There was general belief among available Congress members that when Kennedy sits down April 25 with a group of business men led by Henry Ford II, he will be willing to make some concessions aimed at enlisting their support for a revised tax reduction plan.

Kennedy has given top priority to tax reduction. But his proposals for linking graduated cuts over three years with revisions of the revenue laws has encountered stiff opposition which has spread to other segments of his program.

Republicans have cranked up a budget-reduction drive pointed at the $4.5-billion increase in spending over current levels Kennedy has estimated for the year beginning July 1.

The Republican drive is aimed primarily at new administration programs, such as the mass transit and youth employment legislation already passed by the Senate.

The group headed by Ford has proposed in a preliminary state-

Girl Tumbles From Car on Turnpike

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 3-year-old Chicago girl has survived a tumble from a car traveling 65 miles an hour on the Ohio Turnpike.

"The first I knew anything was wrong was when I looked back and saw the right rear door open," said Thomas D. Stewart, 32, stepfather of the girl. "I looked in the mirror and saw her rolling along the road. I stopped as fast as I could."

The girl, Pamela Reid, was alone in the back seat Sunday. The car door opened when she learned against the handle the Turnpike Patrol post in Hiram reported.

She rolled onto the concrete pavement two miles west of the Cleveland interchange. Cars following behind had to swerve to avoid missing her.

She was taken in an ambulance to Southwest Community Hospital in Berea. Hospital aides treated her for cuts and bruises of the head and foot.

After she was released from the hospital, Stewart, a truck driver, said the family would continue its journey to Pittsburgh.

Clarico's Record Is Impressive One

Donald Clarico, 27-year-old football mentor who pulled Malvern High School from oblivion to a ranking Buckeye Class A football power, will be the new head football coach at Salem Senior High School for the 1963-64 school year.

Superintendent of Schools Paul E. Smith said today the appointment is subject to final release of Clarico by the Malvern Board of Education and the official approval of the Salem Board of Education at its meeting next Monday night.

49 Sought Job Here Clarico (pronounced 'klair' i ko) was named from a field of 49 applicants, from which 11 men were selected for final screening.

He will succeed Blaine Morton, who was relieved of his football coaching duties in January by the school board. Morton has not announced his future plans, but it is understood he is looking for a new coaching job.

Has Impressive Record

Clarico, who coached here today with board members and Supt. Smith concerning his choice of a coaching staff, comes to Salem Senior High School with a record of 23 victories and only five defeats in his three-year-old coaching career.

In 1960, as assistant football coach at Canton South, his charges compiled a 6-3 win-loss record.

In 1961 Clarico led the Malvern squad to a 7-2 record, setting the stage for a clean sweep last year when 10 foes fell in succession.

His skill in re-building Malvern's grid fortunes led Ohio sports scribes to hand him the third greatest number of votes for "Class A Ohio Coach of the Year."

Prior to Clarico's reign at Malvern, the school had been in the football doldrums, failing to finish a winning season nine successive years before 1961.

Malvern teams from 1956 to 1960 managed to eke out only three wins against 37 defeats and one tie. The spectacular comeback drew admiration in ever-widening circles, culminating in a fifth place Ohio Class A rating last season.

By then Malvern had posted two consecutive Tuscarawas Valley Conference championships, an unprecedented feat in the school's history.

Clarico also served as basketball coach at Malvern, which lies astride the Stark-Carroll County line.

Graduate of Ohio U.

Supt. Smith reported Clarico's total salary will be $6,600 — including $5,600 for teaching and $1,000 for coaching football, pending formal action by the board.

Clarico, a 1953 graduate of Waynesburg High School in Carroll County, served three years in the Navy after graduation as a Jewelry found in the prisoner's apartment will be examined by Chief Lutsch and Konnerth.

Chief Lutsch today revealed that the complete list of items taken from the Konnerth store include: 42 new watches, 34 diamond rings, 27 wedding sets, 16 wedding bands, 150 birthstone rings, three transistor radios, 200 customer watches, and 350 trade-in watches.

Total value of the loot was estimated at about $25,000, including $5,000 in customers' watches left at Konnerth's for repairs.

Council To Consider Overpass Letters

Two letters received from Salem businessmen by City Council last week will be considered at a Council committee-of-the-whole meeting tonight at 8:30.

The letters, from R. J. Sekely of Sekely Industrial Tool & Manufacturing Inc., and Robert W. Campbell of People's Lumber Co., concern the effect the W. State St. overpass will have on traffic to and from their respective places of business.

Sekely proposed to Council that Second St. be extended from Jennings Ave. and offered to give the city land necessary for the extension. The letter from Campbell was critical of city officials and referred to the overpass, which is now in an early stage of construction, as "ill-planned."

Council's next regular session is scheduled for Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Pricing Must Be Free

Despite a cluster of "black limousines" at the side door of the White House soon after Wheeling Steel Corp. announced a price boost, the steel industry is not intimidated. It is more cautious than it was last year when it panicked New Frontiersmen by closing in too fast on U.S. Steel's price-boosting lead. There was no rush to follow suit after the Wheeling Steel announcement.

But no one who retains faith in private enterprise doubts that the component elements of the steel industry will make up their own minds about prices. They will not be cowed by the threat, either actual or implied, of government intimidation.

They were not cowed by the vigorous reaction of the New Frontiersmen a year ago. They beat a strategic retreat when the political odds were stacked against them. But many suspected then and still suspect now that the economic odds have been stacked against a price increase by foreign competition and shrinkage of the market for steel by other products.

IT IS ONE thing to announce a price, another thing to enforce a price, as the auto industry has learned. That is the risk the famed system of free pricing which has given to United States its high standard of living. The steel industry is competitive. It searches endlessly for new ways to make old products and for new products. It must meet competitive prices by holding down production costs, and the only way it can hold down costs is to maintain efficiency — and efficiency costs money.

No government can be trusted to meddle in the intricate mechanisms of the free pricing system. A prime example of what can happen if government meddles is the railroads, regulated by government.

On April 15, the New York Stock Exchange will suspend trading in stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, once a blue chip security. Today the road is insolvent with no rescue in sight.

Not all of its troubles can be traced to regulation by government, but many of the troubles of railroads in general stem directly from their inability to regulate prices up and down according to competitive circumstances. They are held in a straitjacket of federal regulation as far as charges for the services they sell are concerned, with no corresponding regulation of charges for the services and materials they buy.

THIS MUST not happen to steel, with or without the passage of a law.

Steel is not subject to federal control. Congress never would permit that to happen. Steel should not be subject to federal intimidation either.

This is the issue of the moment in Washington. Can the industry, if and when it chooses to follow Wheeling Steel's price-boosting lead, do so without fear of federal reprisals?

If it chooses not to follow Wheeling Steel, it can do that; no doubt about it. Freedom in pricing works all ways — up, down and sideways.

Otherwise it isn't freedom, and the steel industry might as well be under the Interstate Commerce Commission like the railroads the ICC is shoving to the wall.

And That's What Happens

A House roll-call vote of 228 to 184 has put the first crimp in the Republican campaign to cut the budget.

The issue was whether to restore $450 million for an accelerated public works program that had been cut out by the House Appropriations Committee.

This is the committee on which Ohio's 16th district Rep. Frank T. Bow is leading a concerted Republican drive to reduce the Kennedy budget recommendations.

So what happens? What budget trimmers take away budget fatteners put back.

And why, with the United States operating at a deficit, should there be budget fatteners among us? Because an accelerated works program and all other programs for spending money can be counted on to make votes.

CONGRESS does not piddle away the taxpayers' money without thought of the consequences. But it takes into account only the political consequences of its decision.

Its members know from experience if they're old-timers and from hearsay if they're new on the job that votes are influenced by spending money, not by saving it.

This is why legislators talk about economy when they're blasting off against high taxes and vote for profligacy when they're making decisions on spending money—not congressmen individually but congress collectively.

Be it to the credit of the Republican minority in the House that only 20 of its members ran out on the party on the accelerated public works issue. All 18 members of the Republican delegation from Ohio stood firm on the party position.

SPENDING is a party issue. Republicans in the House stand openly for financial responsibility. Democrats stand for financial irresponsibility—spending money the U.S. Treasury does not have. Democrats believe this is the way to win elections.

House Speaker McCormack of Massachusetts spelled it out in a TV exchange with House minority leader Rep. Charles W. Halleck of Indiana. The issue was this very issue—the accelerated public works program. Rep. McCormack said anyone voting against it was guilty of "blind opposition" and willing to risk a recession.

In other words, Republicans are hurting the republic by trying to make it solvent.

In the dreary history of attempts to save public money, that always has been the story—that money-savers were trying to hurt people for the sake of saving the Treasury.

May All Legends Be Tender...

The certainty of an accident to one of our nuclear-powered submarines had been postponed so long the bad news of the Thresher was overdue.

It is nearly incredible that these complex craft have voyaged millions of miles in all the oceans of the world, even under the ice in the Arctic, with no previous mishap.

Their record has been a tremendous tribute to the engineering skill that has gone into the nuclear propulsion program for submarines and ships — a tribute to the over-all conception of nuclear propulsion in the mind of Adm. Hymán Rickover, whose compulsory retirement from the Navy will be deferred, according to a recent announcement, so his skill may continue to be available.

If it turns out that the submarine Thresher and its 129 passengers are gone without trace, may all the legends to come of their going be tender. All of us will honor them with our respect for what they risked while letting our imaginations speculate on what fate they encountered on the Thresher's last dive.

Will the Thresher now become a new "Flying Dutchman" — a ghost craft that goes on forever? Will the potentialities of its nuclear power plant cause it to become the name of every unidentified ship that passes in the night? And will it be part of the legend, too, that for reasons unknown to the many the Thresher's fate was to disappear and in due time that its passengers will reappear to their bereaved families?

May all the forthcoming legends be as pleasant to muse upon as the possibility Thresher is proceeding according to plan and all is well... somewhere.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: We have finished our annual ordeal by figures. Your aunt looks as if she had been dragged through an adding machine backward.

Some years I've wondered if the old girl was going to make it past another April 15. She chirps that she doesn't let it bother her, but I keep track of the signs. Last night I caught her trying to light the eraser end of a pencil and complaining that cigarettes weren't what they used to be.

I have forgotten now how many years ago it was that I went to pieces trying to understand the federal income tax. I do remember what happened to me. I rose up from my dining room table, where all the paper was spread out, and walked slowly to the kitchen, where I stretched out on the floor and cried.

Your aunt called Doc Thomas. When he came, he looked at that clutter on the dining room table and lay down on the floor beside me, and we both cried. Your Aunt Effie called Eleanor Thomas, who came and took doc home.

After she had tucked me into bed, she told me she would finish making out the income tax return, which she did. I never have touched once since.

Your aunt says she would rather do it herself than watch me suffer. She says it doesn't bother her because women are illogical by nature and don't require things to make sense. She says women have a greater capacity for suffering than men, which she claims is a well-known fact.

So I let her make out the income tax.

She thinks of it as a challenge. I think of it as an insult. I want to fight. She grins and bears it.

We deserve something better from the stoneheads we send to Washington. Ever since the income tax was invented as a way to punish citizens who believed in raising the U.S. standard of living, the stoneheads have been striving to whack the other fellow harder while softening the blows on themselves and their pals.

They have fabricated such a mish-mash of loopholes and exceptions that no ordinary taxpayer can figure it out, so we ordinary ones settle for what already has been taken away from us while extraordinary ones hire figure wizards to make sure the government gets no more than it is licensed to take.

With rates as high as they are, the income tax has turned into a game of wits between federal functionaries and we the people, who pay their salaries.

What I'd like is a new version of income tax philosophy that would get rid of loopholes and exceptions and put everybody on an even footing.

It should be possible to sit down with a piece of paper showing how much was earned during the year, multiply it by a fixed percentage, strike off the excess digits and know in 30 seconds what you owe.

Please, Uncle Sam have mercy. As for you, dear nephew, give our regards to the folks.

Looking Toward '64, It Won't Be Easy For GOP

By RAYMOND MOLLEY

If issues were all that were needed to win an election, Republicans might well look to 1964 with exhilarating optimism. But more important than issues are organizations and attractive candidates. And the most important of all is organization.

Republicans have an abundance of issues. The extravagant promises of Candidate Kennedy in 1960 have not been fulfilled. Not only have his welfare programs been rejected in Congress, but they have not ignited enthusiastic support among the citizens of the nation.

THERE IS CAUSE and effect here. For had those programs been appealing, there would have been more response in Congress. Moreover, Mr. Kennedy's defense of his welfare programs has not been effectively presented. His mind and his political sense have been in his appeals, but not his heart and emotion.

His strange and unorthodox fiscal policies have not been accepted by the public. Such concepts as planned deficits and growth by spending and the rejection of the copybook maxims are widely accepted in the academic world, but they are remote from the traditions and habits of voters.

Even the promise of a tax cut has failed to take hold.

On the international scene this administration has been inept ad lost ground. It has gained. The administration has chilled our friendships with our former stout allies.

The Cuban fiasco from first to last has been well aired and is well known to the public.

Even the military policies of the excessively dynamic Secretary McNamara have been thrown under clouds of doubt and suspicion. At this writing, the Republicans have more and better issues than they have had in many years.

AS A CANDIDATE Mr. Kennedy has proved capable. Even his youth, his inexperience and the impression he makes of struggling manfully with the enormous burdens of his office have popular appeal.

He is a tireless barnstormer, excelling even Harry S. Truman in that respect. It would be idle to speculate at this time about a Republican candidate against Mr. Kennedy. The "most mentioned" are Goldwater and Rockefeller, or Rockefeller and Goldwater, according to what part of the country you are listening to.

Rockefeller has the financial and conventions. Goldwater has great grass-roots strength, especially in the Midwest, the West and the South.

Rockefeller has made speeches recently which clearly differentiate his policies from those of the President. He also has been a wise and prudent governor.

Goldwater elicits great enthusiasm wherever he travels, but he has a hard race for reelection to the Senate before him and he might not actively seek the nomination.

Romney and Scranton are deep in the problems of their states and could hardly afford to make a campaign for the presidency so soon.

BUT IN ORGANIZATION, the advantages are all with the President. As President, he has available what F.D.R. once called "vast instrumentalities of power."

Great expenditures of federal money win grateful and still expectant support. The immense bureaucracy, despite civil service and the Hatch Act, provides a nationwide machine.

Whole regions, and especially urban centers, can be won by federal grants, subventions, and defense contracts.

To a large degree the business world can be politically neutralized by the threat of contracts withheld or punitive action. And state and city Democrats in power can wield formidable support.

Moreover, the advantages of the President and his administration in communicating their propaganda to voters are immense. News is managed by this administration as never before in history.

A President has almost unrestricted access to radio and television on free time. There can be constant diversionary tactics. If an unpleasant situation appears in one spot, the President can create interest elsewhere.

IT IS THESE organizational advantages that the President and his brother Robert can use most effectively. They were born and bred in organization politics. And they have the capacity to employ such operations to the utmost.

On the other hand, the weaknesses in Republican organization which lost the election of Nixon in 1960 still remain. Only minor repairs have been made.

The brightest spot is in the South, where Republicanism is vigorously promoted and is growing fast.

Shakespeare And Baseball

Old Abner Doubleday may be the founder of baseball, but a gent by the name of William Shakespeare penned a number of lines quite apropos to our national sport long before that first game in Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1839.

To help mark the opening of the new season, Dr. Louis Marder, Kent State University English professor and editor of the Shakespeare Newsletter, offers the following description of a "baseball game" by the Bard of Avon:

"The Nine Worthies," from Love's Labour's Lost.

"Where go you with bats and clubs?" from Coriolanus.

"Tis time we twain did show ourselves in the field," from Antony and Cleopatra.

"I'll have an action of battery against him," from Twelfth Night.

"As swift in motion as a ball," from Romeo and Juliet.

"Now you strike like the blind man," from Much Ado About Nothing.

"Make him fly an ordinary pitch," from Julius Caesar.

"A hit, a very palpable hit," from Hamlet.

"Taste your legs, sir; put them in motion," from Twelfth Night.

"Run, boy, run, run," from Two Gentlemen of Verona.

"And so I shall catch the fly," from Titus Andronicus.

"Stinking pitch," from The Tempest.

"I took this lark for a bunting," from All's Well That Ends Well.

"The fool slides," from Troilus and Cressida.

"The base is right," from Taming of the Shrew.

"Where shall I find one that can steal well?" from 1 Henry IV.

"The good humour is to steal at a minute's rest," from The Merry Wives of Windsor.

"Would that I were gently put out... before I were forced out," from Timon of Athens.

"Small things make base men proud," from 2 Henry IV.

"There is three umpires in this matter as I understand," from The Merry Wives of Windsor.

"That one error fills him with faults," from Two Gentlemen of Verona.

"Kind umpire of men's miseries," from 1 Henry VI.

"Forced to cry out," from Midsummer Night's Dream.

"Ay, that way goes the game," from Dream.

"Let us everyone go home, and laugh this sport over by a country fire," from The Merry Wives of Windsor.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1912, the steamship Titanic struck an iceberg in the North Atlantic and sank with a loss of 1,513 lives. The vessel, bound from Liverpool to New York, was on its maiden voyage and carried 2,224 persons.

On this day:

In 1638, English settlers arrived at what is now New Haven, Conn. In 1817, the New York Legislature authorized construction of the Erie Canal.

In 1904, a hero award fund of $6 million was established by steel magnate and philanthropist Andrew Carnegie.

In 1952, President Harry S. Truman signed the Japanese peace treaty officially ending World War II.

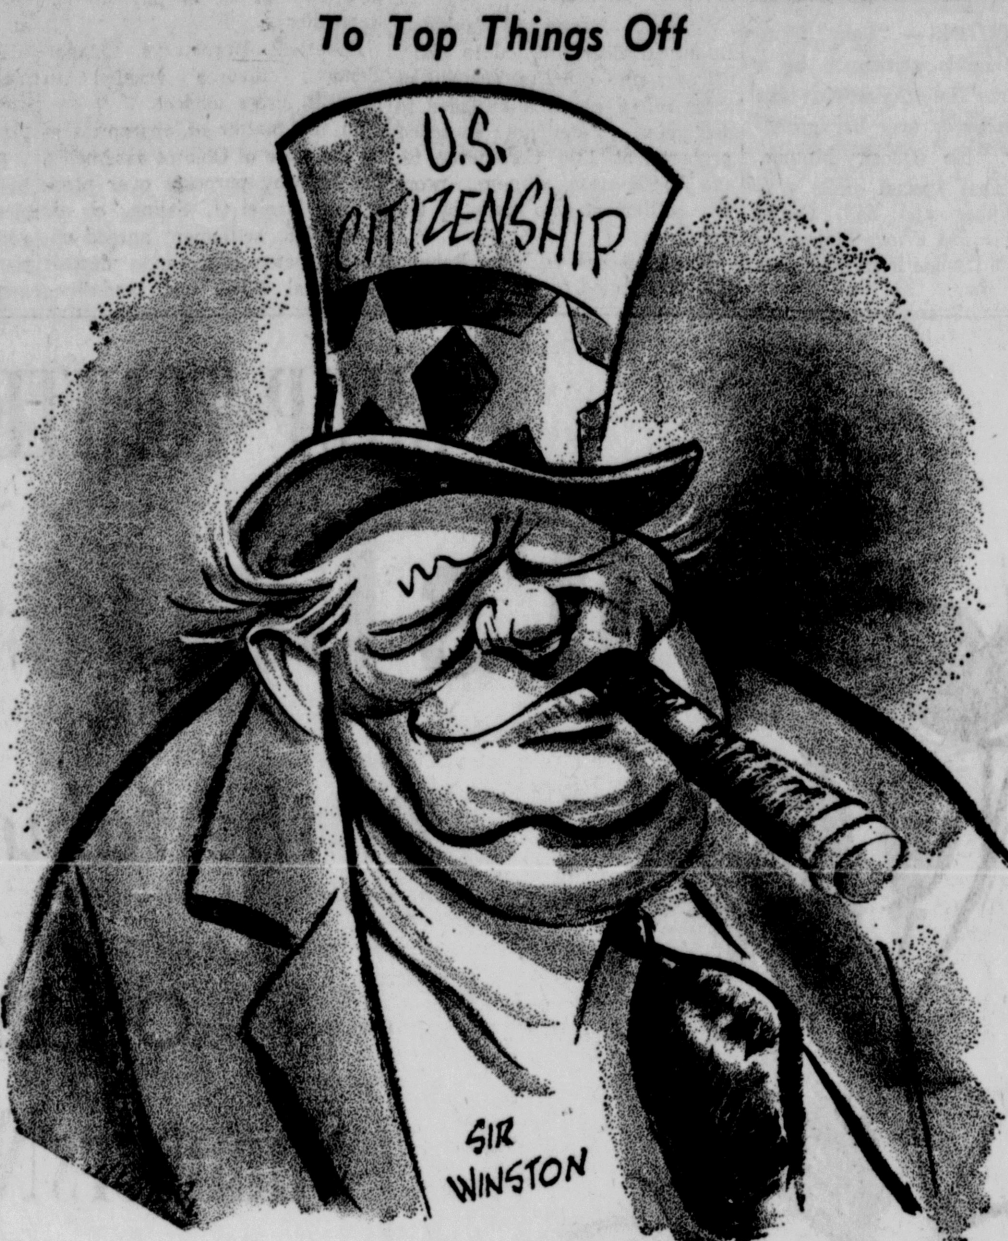

In 1959, President Dwight D. Eisenhower announced the resignation of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles because of failing health.

Today's birthday: Painter Thomas Hart Benton is 74.

Battle Lines Are Drawn

By ROLAND EVANS

The Kennedy administration is ready and willing to join the battle of the budget with Republican leaders in Congress. President Kennedy's political lieutenants also think they are able to turn the battle against the Republicans and cash in next year at the polls.

The Republicans have carefully avoided putting a hard dollar figure on the amount they hope to cut from the new budget. They sometimes speak in terms of $5 to $15 billions — roughly 5 to 15 per cent — but they have been most careful to avoid being pinned down.

As Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate Republican leader, said recently: "We are going to examine every money bill that comes before us, starting in subcommittee, then in full committee and finally on the floor. There are no sacred cows, and we intend to overlook no opportunities."

KENNEDY DEMOCRATS in Congress, encouraged by the White House, are now preparing a counter-offensive. It is the essence of simplicity: Force the Republicans to identify the spending areas in which they want to reduce the budget and then built a hot political backfire among the voters who would be most affected by the cuts.

Whether the issue is hospital care for the aged, employment-training for youth or federal subsidies for mass transit in the big cities, a built-in pressure group, if properly aroused, can be mobilized against efforts to cut the budgets for these activities. This, at least, is the conviction of the administration.

What is planned, then, is a massive campaign to portray the budget-cutters as heartless scrooges and to array against them the special interests whose welfare would be affected.

President Kennedy himself provided the first clue on the Democratic strategy at a recent press conference.

The Republicans, he said, had "generalized" enough on reducing the budget. It was time to come to specifics, he said, and to determine whether the programs to be cut were "essential to a better life for our people."

What concerns the Democrats, as they plot the 1964 presidential campaign issues, is that if backfires are not lit the Republican cry of fiscal responsibility and deficit spending may catch on. In fact, they regard the political danger as greater in the fiscal debate than in the debate over Cuba.

Further, they fear that if the Republican attack on the budget isn't blunted quickly, it may become so potent as to wreck the President's entire legislative program, from foreign aid to the youth employment opportunities bill.

The new program is already wallowing on Capital Hill. If, on top of the already evident lack of enthusiasm in Congress, the President's program is now loaded down with the weight of a powerful budget-cutting campaign, the administration might find itself without notable legislative accomplishments to take to the country in the election next year.

AS A RESULT of all this, the President is hearing potent advice to concentrate on domestic issues and put foreign affairs on the back burner.

Kenned Democrats in Congress hope that this shift of emphasis will continue. They feel there has been too much attention on Cuba and foreign policy, at the expense of bread-and-butter issues here at home, and they now see the Republican attack on "spending" as a good opening to switch the scene of the political debate.

But to be successful, the Democrats must first discover just where it is that the Republicans are going to aim their shafts at the Kennedy budget. It takes time to build a back-fire.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Late Awakening

Dear Ann Landers: When are you going to get smart and give people some practical, down-to-earth advice they can live with?

Why not be honest and tell the young men who write that they are nuts to get married until they are 40. And then they ought to marry a woman who is at least 10 years younger (20 years younger is better yet).

I made the usual boner. I got hooked when I was 22. By the time I was 32 I knew I had made a big mistake. But being a gentleman, I hung around another 10 years until the kids were raised. Then I dumped the old lady.

One year later I married a doll who is 18 years my junior. It cost me $60,000 to make the switch but it was worth every penny.

If you are honest, Ann Landers, you will admit in your column that all first wives should be shot when they reach the age of 40—SECOND TIME AROUND.

Dear Second Time Around: Every few days I get a letter from some middle-aged Lothario who mistakes the decline in his verve for the death rattle. He then must prove to himself (and to the world) that he has lost none of his vim and vigor so he starts chasing around with a chick young enough to be his daughter.

Read the next letter.

month honeymoon. By the time we got home I was sick of her. The attraction was gone. She seemed to go completely dead.

I know now I should have stayed with my comfortable old slippers. These new shoes are not for me. I'm ashamed to admit I was such a fool. I've wrecked my life, broken a good woman's heart, lost the respect of my children and have earned the title of — JACKASS OF THE CENTURY.

Dear Jackass: I can add nothing to your letter. You've said it all.

An' now — just a word of advice: Millions of people have looked for a solution at the bottom of a bottle. No one never found one there.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Joseph Bryan, 13-year-old Salem newspaper carrier and an eighth grade pupil at St. Paul's School, won the Columbian County parochial school spelling bee Saturday at East Liverpool. He is a son of Mrs. Mary Bryan, 745 N. Lincoln Ave.

25 YEARS AGO — Mullins Booster Club will give a "hard times" party at the Elks home Saturday. Guests are asked to wear gingham and last year's suits.

Need More Kitchen Storage Space? It May Be Overhead

Need more storage space in your kitchen? LOOK UP! It might be overhead.

In numerous homes, even new homes, an open space has been left between the top of the kitchen cabinets and the ceiling. Unwisely and wastefully, this area can easily be converted into attractive storage space.

All you need are sliding door tracks and panels of hardboard (Masonite) cut to proper size to serve as sliding doors.

Tops of present cabinets can serve as the bottom of the new storage area. Fasten aluminum sliding door tracks with nuts and bolts to the top and to the ceiling directly above. When fastening the upper track, use long screws that will penetrate into ceiling joists, or install plastic screw anchors. Bevel the edges of the door panels that fit into the tracks and coat them with paraffin so they will slide easily. These panels can be left their natural brown color, in which case they should be waxed to preserve their finish, or they can be painted to harmonize with the rest of the room.

If the extra storage is being constructed on top of wood cabinets, door panels made of woodgrain finished hardboard often blend well with the decorative theme. Walnut and cherry grain panels are available in five colors and shades. These panels have a factory-applied finish coat so their surfaces need no waxing—or other protection. They are easily cleaned by wiping with a damp cloth.

House, Like Family, Needs New Wardrobe for Spring

Your house needs a new spring wardrobe just as much as your family does. And this can be accomplished without a major outlay in either time or money.

Like all good fashion, a "new look" in the home can be achieved with a change of accessories emphasizing the season. Here are a few tips on how to give a springtime lift to your budget.

Use toss pillows as accents to freshen the living room with gay spring colors. Latex foam occasional pillows are preferable because they never need plumping and don't mat with use. You can buy them already covered or ready to cover with a fabric of your choice. Choose a closely woven fabric and cut it the same size as the cushion itself. Then when you seam it you'll have a snug, plump fit.

Take down your heavy winter draperies and replace them with light, inexpensive ones of some easy-care fabric. You can get a custom look by adding a valance cut out of plywood, gluing on foam rubber sheeting for padding, and tacking on an outside cover of fabric to match the drapes.

Send your heavy carpet to the cleaner for storage. Replace it with inexpensive small rugs or mats.

Dress up your dining room with a new wardrobe of vinyl place mats in assorted colors. Make tie-on seat cushions for your chairs with two-inch foam rubber cushion now sold by the yard. Cover in a bright fabric.

Replace your winter bedspreads with washable lightweight spreads that lighten the tone of the room. Tint your bedroom curtains a corresponding shade and use foam rubber accent pillows in contrasting colors.

Get at least one new set of towels for the bathroom with a change of shower curtains and bath mat to complete the spring color scheme. If your old curtain still is useful wash and dry it thoroughly before storing.

Scatter a garden of potted plants throughout the house. They add a rich note of earthiness to the colors of a room.

ZESTY SAUCE

To make a quick chili sauce, combine ketchup and pickle relish. Mix equal amounts of the two ingredients for a spicy topping for hamburger.

Laundrying Tip

When you starch dark cottons, add a quantity of bluing to the starch. This will prevent the starch from showing on the dark surfaces.

Choose Furniture To 'Grow' With Child as He Develops

While irresistible to parents and doting relatives, many of the designs in children's accessories do not appeal to the youngsters themselves. A survey among first graders showed that bright or deep colors, rather than the typical pastel shades, are more appealing to the small fry. And many of today's youngsters scorn traditional nursery designs.

Children outgrow these designs so fast that it's more economical to shop for items that can "grow" along with the child and his interests.

When it comes to buying headboards, bureaus and other basic items to be used indefinitely, stay away from the ones with representational motifs. Bedspreads, curtains and other accessories add sufficient color and can be changed inexpensively from time to time. Even in shopping for a child's lamp, it's wise to select a simple design that you can decorate and alter with your child's expanding interests.

Instead of buying a lamp with Mother Goose design, for example, pick a simple unadorned base with a white shade that can be trimmed with fabric motifs such as a calico cat.

It's a snap to make this with a bit of fabric, scraps of wool and a roll of cellophane tape.

Make a pattern of the calico cat before cutting the fabric. Then put the fabric cut-outs on the shade so that the tails criss-cross and fasten with invisible tape. It's important to use this tape because it will keep the edge of the fabric from fraying and since the tape is permanent, it will not turn yellow or come unstuck. Be sure to tape all the edges securely. Then take three pieces of black wool and tape them to the cat's face for whiskers. Ink in large dots for eyes. That's all there is to it.

You needn't be limited to this calico cat design. It's just one suggestion. A boy might prefer other animals or car, train or tin soldier shades.

Color Plays Big Role In New Refrigerator-Freezers

An average day for the American homemaker is pictured something like this: She takes food from her pastel refrigerator, cooks it at the touch of a button on her matching range, tosses the family wash into her modern automatic washer (also matching) and dresses for dinner while her "kitchen" works for her.

Yet figures show that in this "dreamland" for the housewife, 20 million homes have refrigerator and ranges that were built over 10 years ago, and 17 million homes still have wringer washers. So it seems that many families will be in the market for new appliances in 1963.

Color plays a dominant role in the new line of refrigerator-freezers. One manufacturer is producing six of eight new models in five cabinet colors—pink, yellow, aqua, copper and white. They are frost-free and contain scientifically designed storage space for orderly grouping of food.

Some extra features are a meat drawer that stores fresh meat up to seven days without freezing, a unique ice ejector that cascades cubes by the trayful into a big bin and ice cube servers that hold 180 ice cubes.

Today's ranges also come in a rainbow of colors, and are designed for easy cleaning. In some, a high-wall grill eliminates much of the oven cleaning after broiling, for meat spatters are kept in the pan and off the oven walls. Other models have automatic broiling control. Set the dial at medium, rare or well-done, and meat is cooked to taste.

And for the laundry, a new washer will wash, rinse and spin dry at the touch of one button. So we COULD have a housewife's Utopia if we all had new appliances.

Big news this year is in the room air conditioner field. Accessory furniture fronts blend with rooms styled in Early American, provincial, contemporary and traditional design. The fronts are wooden cabinets installed over the air conditioner, acting as practically noiseless as well as handsome.

CLEANSING ITEMS

What should go into the medicine chest? A doctor recommends including a cake of soap and a scrubbing brush to cleanse skin immediately after a minor wound.

Organize Job, And Cleaning House Is Easy

Spring house cleaning does not have to be the frantic, time-consuming chore usually faced at this time of year, if homemakers will only take the advice of one of the biggest house cleaners of them all.

After 20 years experience cleaning and maintaining more than six million square feet of space in the world's largest city, the maintenance engineers of Kinney Service Corp. in New York have developed commercial cleaning procedures easily adaptable, with minor changes, to the average home or apartment.

Professional cleaners figure carefully in advance what supplies will be needed, and assemble them in one place. At home, this means packing a cart full of the items which will be used, an apron with large pockets for extra dustcloths and paper bags for emptying wastebaskets and ash trays. Be sure, too, that you have the proper tools and appliances to insure quick, easy cleaning. Here are some useful tips:

1—Clean all glasswork—pictures, windows and mirrors—at the same time. Then wash and wax window sills to make periodic sponging more effective.

2—Slip an old sock on each hand; apply furniture polish with one and wipe with the other.

3—To spread liquid furniture polish more evenly, insert a clothes sprinkler top into the bottle neck.

4—Rinse floors thoroughly before waxing to prevent traces of soap or detergent from dulling the finish.

5—Mark lines with nail polish at quart levels inside the cleaning pail; this helps mix cleaning solutions of proper strength.

6—Mix warm water and water conditioner to wash down bathroom tiles. To make tiles shine, dry with a towel.

7—To clean lamps, disconnect cord first and run it through a soapy sponge. Remove bulbs, wipe with wet rag; dry thoroughly.

A sudsy cloth will clean most lamp bases. Fabric shades can be cleaned in a tubful of warm suds, but coated, glass fiber, paper or parchment shades should be vacuumed, washed with "dry" soapsuds on a sponge, rinsed with a damp cloth and wiped dry.

8—Cotton-tipped swabs clean kitchen range buttons and the number plates under telephone dials.

29—Imagination, not magic, can transform quick snacks and impromptu meals into glittering and gala occasions. New, elegant cook-serve accessories are available for the homemaker who wants kitchen equipment that is pretty as well as practical.

Three such items are destined to do double-duty—both in the kitchen, where they'll be on tap for teen-age snacks, and in the living room, where they'll lend a touch of glamour to serving.

These include a gourmet cheese server, an eight-cup carafe and twin golden storage mats—a The cheese server, which has a hardwood maple base, is topped by a clear glass bell, decorated in gold. Glass is nonporous, hence the clear server keeps the cheese firm and flavorful, lets you see how much is left but won't transfer cheese odors to other foods.

An eight-cup glass carafe—especially one with its own candle warmer—is another boon to the busy hostess. One such, made of Corning's Pyrex brand clear glass, is trimmed in gold and comes with a burnished brass candle warmer.

Put the pieces all together, and you've got the makings of a first-rate coffee break—touched with a golden glow.

WIPE OFF GREASE

Protect the wall behind a stove from grease splatters and food stains by giving the clean wall thin coats of white shellac. Splatters and stains can then be removed with a damp cloth.

Check of Lawnmower Wise Before First Grass-Cutting

If your power mower was stored properly last fall, all you have to do this spring is uncover it, get it down off the blocks and fill the tank.

But, if you simply parked it, better plan to spend some time checking it over before that first grass-cutting.

First, and foremost, always work in a well-ventilated area.

Construction Activity In City Quickens

A permit to remodel two offices of the Electric Furnace Co. on W. Wilson St. has been issued in City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff's office. A. Carl of Beloit is the contractor for the $10,000 job.

A permit has also been granted for a one-room addition to the Miller-Holzwarth Co. on W. State St. John Hollinger of RD 1 is the contractor for the $2,000, 24 by 30-foot concrete block addition.

Use Lush Greens To Dress Rooms

Living plants that do double decorative duty indoors and out are finding increasing favor among modern homemakers.

And along with the increasing popularity of dual purpose plants to enhance year-round home beauty, there's a new trend toward compact plants, such as chrysanthemums. The technique of keeping stems shorter without sacrificing lushness and beauty of foliage or blossoms has been greatly advanced by grower, in recent years.

In both the double-purpose and compact plants, porous red clay flower pots play a basically important role in maintaining plant health and beauty from professional grower to ultimate consumer.

Plants grown and purchased in these pots enjoy extra health benefits not found in other containers. They are automatically safeguarded against overwatering—commonest cause of most house plant failures—because tiny pores in the clay walls permit salts to leach out the sides. Roots cannot become waterlogged. In addition, the porosity supplies built-in cooling and airconditioning which roots need to thrive.

House plants that can do double duty indoors and out include such foliage plants as potted ferns, philodendron, many types of ivy and such popular flowering plants as azaleas, geraniums, begonias and fuschias.

Also, you'll find it interesting to select from the great variety of succulent plants, such as kalanchoes, peperomias and cacti, which can add color and interest to any decorative plan.

One way to solve the seating problem for guests is to purchase a stack of plastic shell chairs, upholstered in foam rubber, which fit together in a pile when not in use.

away the accumulation of grass clippings, dirt and carbon that you'll find on the underside of all rotary mowers. Cut away the strands of grass that get wound around the reel of a reel-type mower.

DUST AND DIRT CAN wreck the motor. Dismantle and clean the air filter before putting the mower back into service. If your mower has an oil-bath filter, discard the old oil and fill with fresh. Wash the filter element in gasoline.

Metal foil filters are simply taken apart and cleaned. Wash screens and foil in a solvent. Soak the filter element in clean oil, drain and replace.

If your mower has a dry filter, clean the parts in gasoline and allow to dry.

THOROUGHLY LUBRICATE the mower according to manufacturer's instructions. Tighten all body and engine bolts.

Always—positively—disconnect the spark plug wire and keep it disconnected while working on the mower. Never attempt adjustments or repairs while mower is running.

Once the mower is in shape to use, make certain the lawn is safe to mow. Clean it thoroughly with a rake so that mower will not pick up and hurl stones, metal or sticks.

TAKING A CARBURETOR apart is no job for an amateur; better take it into a trained serviceman.

If your mower has a separate crankcase, drain and fill with fresh oil. If you use a gasoline-oil mixture, be sure to mix up a fresh batch before refueling.

Check the spark plug next. If the plug is dirty, cleaning with a wire brush is in order. Be careful that you don't damage the electrode—the metal piece at the base of the plug. Clean this with emery cloth or a very fine file. Reset the gap—the space between the metal electrodes—using a gauge you can pick up at any hardware or auto accessories store.

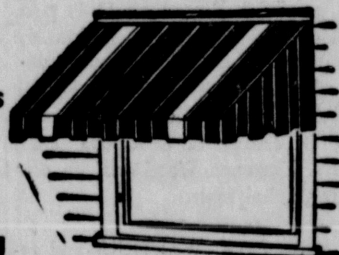

IF THE ELECTRODE is badly burned, or if porcelain is cracked, buy a new plug.

Clean the mower itself. Scrape

Tax Cut

ment of principles a substantial reduction in individual income tax rates, plus a cutback in the maximum corporation levy from 52 to 47 per cent. It has indicated it believes revenue law changes can wait until later.

Most associates think the President would not object to having his proposed $10-billion net tax reduction telescoped into a single year.

The Ford group is reported proposing sharp reductions in expenditures, with the goal of eliminating budget deficits.

If these programs are reduced in size—as the youth employment bill was cut from $500 million to $375 million in the Senate—their chances of final approval by Congress would be enhanced.

Steel

and general manager of Lukens, said the ratio of earnings to sales was down to 2.6 per cent in the first 12 weeks of 1963.

The price increase announcement by Wheeling, the nation's 11th largest steel producer, was made a year after the start of a series of increase announcements by a number of major companies. The $6-a-ton increases were rescinded after Kennedy bitterly attacked the action as bad for the economy.

At Kennedy's direction, it was understood today, presidential aides in Washington were making a study to determine what percentage of Lukens' output would be affected by the announced price increases of $5 to $7 a ton.

The company, the 20th largest steel producer in the nation and the nation's No. 3 producer of sheet steel, said the boosts would affect less than half its production.

Newsman's checks of other steel companies following the Lukens announcement brought a statement from the Kaiser Steel Corp., ninth largest steel producer in the nation, that it has no plans to raise prices.

Spokesmen for the United States Steel Corp., the largest steel producer in the country, and for a number of other companies had no comment.

At his home in West Chester, Pa., Mullenstien refused to comment Sunday night on the White House statement on his company's action.

The Lukens announcement said 3 per cent increases on two production items will be effective on shipments made today and thereafter.

Carbon steel was increased $5 a ton and alloy steel plates $7 a ton.

Art Show

"I left for awhile and when I came back, she had made a long mural across the kitchen cabinets," said Bates. "So I taped paper up on the refrigerator and just let her go to it. She did three pictures and I picked the best for the show."

Judge Robert A. Chuey, an art teacher, said: "Many times children's art can be better than adult art. It seems to me that much adult art and many artists become tired and lacking in fresh viewpoints, whereas a child is untarnished, not yet corrupted."

Pat S. Brown, president of the sponsoring South Gate Art Association, declined comment but barred children's entries for next year.

"ON YOUR MARK"—Over 1,000 Salem youngsters participated in the annual Easter egg hunt Saturday at Memorial Park sponsored by the UCT with the cooperation of the VFW Drill team and Boy Scout Troop 3. $20 Stolen Here In Office Burglary

Ernest K. Moser of the Chester Kridler Real Estate & Insurance Agency reported to police Sunday that the office at 267 E. State St. was burglarized between 8:45 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. yesterday. About $20 in change was taken from a cash drawer.

Moser said he closed the office at 8:45 p.m. Saturday. Upon returning at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, he found the rear door unlocked but thought he had left it that way, and went out without inspecting the office. Returning at 2 p.m. Sunday, he went into the outer room to turn on the radio and found the cash drawer had been broken into and its contents taken.

There were no signs of forced entry, Moser said, and he believes the thief or thieves must have entered the office from the rear door of the building which is off an east-west alley. Nothing in the office other than the cash drawer was apparently disturbed.

Sgt. York Listed In Critical Condition

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sgt. Alvin C. York, the ailing hero of World War I, was listed in critical condition today with heart trouble, possible pneumonia and a blood circulatory disturbance. The 75-year-old veteran from Pall Mall, Tenn., was brought to St. Thomas Hospital Saturday after his condition became worse. His wife and seven children were called to the bedside.

York rested well Sunday, though his condition has not changed materially since his admittance. Attendants said he was conscious and talked with his doctor and members of the family.

He was awarded the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration, for what Gen. John J. Pershing termed the greatest individual feat of World War I. The Tennessee mountain boy killed 25 German soldiers and captured 132 others in a single engagement.

After the war York returned to his rural home on the Cumberland Mountains plateau, where he farmed and raised a family. Ill health forced him to retire several years ago.

2 Columbiana Boys Hurt In Car Mishap

Two Columbiana boys and an East Liverpool mother and daughter were injured in two separate highway mishaps over the weekend.

Willard Tucker, 12, and Harry Tucker, 15, sons of Robert Tucker of RD 2, Columbiana, were hurt when a car driven by their father, 41, rolled over Saturday at 6:40 p.m. on County Road 344, about 1.4 mile west of Leetonia.

Willard suffered a bruised left shoulder and Harry received abrasions of the knee. Both were treated at Salem City Hospital and released.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol investigated the incident, but issued no citation. Sunday at 1:55 a.m. Mrs. Inez Joy, 46, of East Liverpool and her 14-year-old daughter, Joy, were hurt when the car in which they were riding struck a guard rail.

The mother was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital for severe lacerations of the forehead and lacerations of the right knee. Her daughter suffered a possible fracture of the left shoulder.

The victims were passengers in a car operated by Robert Frederick, 66, of East Liverpool. A patrolman said Frederick struck the guard rail after he lost control of his car in passing near a curve. Frederick was cited for unsafe operation.

With Patients

George Bullis, 49, of RD 1, North Benton, was treated and released at Alliance City Hospital Sunday for an injury to the jaw received when he ran into a tree.

Custodians To Fete School Officials

LEETONIA — Twelve school custodians from Leetonia, Columbiana and Lisbon will put aside mops and other cleaning paraphernalia Saturday night to become chefs, cooks and bottlewashers for an evening.

The dozen men and a woman, who completed a 10-week janitorial course, will cook and serve a meal to members and clerks of Boards of Education and administrators of the three school districts as a gesture of appreciation, according to Frank Vespasian Sr. of Leetonia.

Besides Vespasian, those who completed the course are Russ Weikart, Joe Altomare and Francis Perry of Leetonia; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brubaker, Jerry Coulter, Ed Unger and Don Geiger of Columbiana; and Ray Glaussner, Guy Wells and Lloyd Riggs of Lisbon.

The course, organized by Donald Hoover of Leetonia, to improve custodial skills, was instructed by Dan Papic of Salem City Schools. Papic also instructed a recently completed custodial course in Salem.

Thresher

perience of veteran submarine builders and sailors that the five-man board is trying to form a picture of what caused the Thresher to vanish suddenly—probably forever.

Haunting the inquiry at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard where the Thresher was built is the fact that the cause of the tragedy may never be known. It may lie buried with the submarine at ocean depths from which, Navy officials say, salvage is impossible.

Lt. (jg) James D. Watson, navigator on the USS Skylark, surface escort vessel of the Thresher, told the court Saturday of the final exchange of messages and then "the sound of a ship breaking up—like a compartment collapsing."

Watson said the sounds came a few seconds after 9:17 a.m. They were the last sounds to be heard from the Thresher.

The submarine's last audible message to the Skylark was: "Have positive up angle, attempting to blow up."

Watson explained that this meant the submarine was trying to blow water out of its ballast tanks and to surface.

Moments later, Watson said, a garbled message came from the Thresher. Only the last two words "test depth" were audible. After that the only sound was "a muted dull thud."

Mrs. John Wesley Harvey of New London, Conn., widow of the Thresher's skipper, and Mrs. Patrick M. Garner of Mystic, Conn., widow of the vessel's executive officer, planned to attend a memorial service at the U.S. submarine base at New London today and then fly to Portsmouth to take part in the wreath-laying ceremonies over the Atlantic.

The wreath, shaped like a submarine, will be dropped on the Thresher's remains from a Navy plane.

'Boy of Month' Confesses to Two Murders

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A 17-year-old Georgia boy, who admitted stabbing a charter boat captain and his son and tossing their bodies overboard, spent Easter in solitude in a jail cell.

Roger Foster, once named "Boy of the Month," by a civic club in his home town of Griffin, still refused to see his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H.A. Foster, but he did write them a letter. Its contents were not disclosed.

Roger has refused to see his parents since he was brought here Saturday aboard a Coast Guard boat.

Authorities who questioned him Saturday said Foster seemed disturbed only when he recounted the actual stabbings of Douglas Trevor, 54, and his son, Edward, 22, aboard their charter fishing boat, the Dream Girl.

A preliminary hearing for Foster will be held after a defense attorney is obtained. He had no attorney at his arraignment Saturday, when he quietly pleaded guilty to first-degree murder charges.

Conviction of first-degree murder is punishable by death in Florida's electric chair, unless a jury recommends mercy.

Foster said he believed the stabbings took place about 20 miles west of Key West, near the Marquesas Deys. The Key West charter boat fleet continued a search of the area for the bodies of Trevor and his son.

Sheriff Henry Haskins told newsman Foster chartered the fishing boat Thursday with the intention of getting rid of the Trevors, perhaps by stranding them on an uninhabited island.

Then Foster, who had quarreled with a girl friend a month earlier, intended to take the vessel to sea and kill himself, the sheriff said. He had not planned originally to kill the men.

Foster was alone aboard the boat for more than 24 hours before the Coast Guard—summoned by cryptic radio messages which included screams of "Emergency! Emergency!"—picked him up Friday night 20 miles off the Cuban coast.

Another major upcoming bill would earmark one-half of one per cent of motor vehicle fuel taxes for a waterways safety fund. A companion bill would authorize spending from the waterways fund for improvements.

Two Youths Critical After Friday Crash

Two West Side Youngstown boys, hurt in a spectacular crash that fatally injured one youth near midnight Friday, remain in serious condition today at Youngstown South Side Hospital.

Hospital authorities listed Barry Amrich, 14, of 48 S. Dunlap, and Bob Lucente, 15, of 2843 Rexford Rd., as "serious".

Amrich received a possible fractured skull, possible internal injuries and lacerations of the scalp. His companion in the two-car mishap north of the North Lima Turnpike Interchange suffered chest and possible head injuries.

Dead three hours after the accident was Elliot Gains, 16, of 3392 Susan Circle, a passenger in a car with Amrich, Lucente and two other youths.

Joseph Duganne, 16, of 72 Parkgate Ave., driver of the auto struck broadside in front of the Stardust Motel on Route 7, is still in fair condition with head injuries, possible concussion and multiple abrasions and contusions.

William Robertson, 21, of RD 1, Columbiana, operator of the car which hit the youth's auto, was released from the hospital over the weekend after being admitted with abrasions of the knees, contusions of the chest and possible fractured jaw.

The fifth youth in Duganne's auto, Thomas Lias, 16, of S. Schenley Ave., was not severely injured, receiving only cuts and bruises.

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol indicated today the case may be turned over to Mahoning County Prosecutor Clyde Osborne. No charges have been lodged against either driver.

Young Cleveland Stars Pin 6-0 Shutout On Detroit

Davalillo Hits First Home Run

Grant Hurt, Walker Is Sharp In Relief

CLEVELAND (AP)—It turned into a fine Easter for Cleveland Indians fans after all.

It wasn't just that the Tribe ended a three-game losing streak by downing the Detroit Tigers 6-0 Sunday. It was the way they did it.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts' "babies" started hitting for the first time since the young season began. And—perhaps most heartening of all—a young righthander named Jerry Walker took over for the injured Jim Grant in the fifth inning and held the Terrible Tigers at bay.

Little Vic Davalillo gave Walker all the margin he needed when he slammed his first American League home run some 400 feet over the right field fence in the fifth inning. Doc Edwards, who had singled, scored ahead of him.

Davalillo also had a single. Fookies Tony Martinez and Max Alvis got three hits and two hits, respectively. Altogether, the Indians pounded three Detroit hurlers for 12 hits.

Mudcat Bruises Right Arm

The Indians got a scare when a line drive single off the bat of Jim Bunning hit Grant. The Mudcat, writhing with pain, went down in the dirt, but the injury turned out to be only a bruise on his right arm. He is expected to be ready for his next turn in the pitching rotation at Baltimore this weekend.

Walker, 24, obtained from Kansas City in a trade over the winter, took charge and scattered four singles the rest of the way.

Walker was in trouble several times. Three times he faced slugger Rocky Colavito with men on bases and got the Rock out each time.

Walker, who pitched in an All-Star game when he was 20, was sidelined 17 days last season by an injury received during a game with Detroit, and he never regained his effectiveness. Tebbetts gambled that he would regain his form and traded outfielder Chuck Essegian to the Athletics to get him here.

The young righthander said Mel Harder, the Indians pitching coach, had been working with him and "I think that Mel has me throwing with pretty much my old form."

"The son-of-a-gun knows how to pitch," said Tebbetts after the game. "He makes the batters hit his pitch and that's what you have to do."

"I guessed that he might be the kind of a pitcher to bother Colavito. That's why I left him in there each time against Rocky."

Walker helped clinch his victory with a two-run single in the eighth.

The Indians had picked up a run in the sixth on singles by Fred Whitfield and Martinez, a walk to Woodie Held and pinch hitter Al Luplow's infield out. That made the score 3-0.

The Tribe added three runs in the eighth, the first coming on another infield out by Luplow after Held's walk and bunts by Alvis and Martinez. Walker's single knocked in the last two runs.

The Indians are idle today. Rookie hurler Sam McDowell will try for his first victory Tuesday against Washington at the Stadium.

Bucs Blank Reds 1-0; Phils Sweep Twin Bill

3 Teams Are Tied For 1st In Senior Circuit As Chicago Hands Giants Initial Setback 3-1

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We made the trade of the year," So said Bob Kennedy, the head of the horde of Chicago Cub coaches, talking about the deal that brought Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel to the Cubs from the St. Louis Cardinals during the winter.

"We got our ace starter, and our best relief pitcher, in one deal," the Cubs' head coach said.

Kennedy's words looked very wise today. Jackson tamed the mighty San Francisco Giants for the first time this year, 3-1, Sunday, with ninth-inning help from McDaniel.

The defeat dropped the Giants into a first-place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Phils, all with 4-1 records.

Alvin McBean scattered 10 hits and pitched out of two bases-loaded messes, to best the Cincinnati Reds and Joey Jay, 1-0 for the Pirates.

Jack Baldschun, the relief workhorse of the Phils—132 games in the last two years—picked up the decisions in both ends of a double-header victory over the Cards, 4-3 in 10 innings, and 5-4.

The Houston Colts whipped

Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4, and the hapless New York Mets went down 1-0 in 10 innings before the Milwaukee Braves, in the other National League games.

In the American League, the New York Yankees moved into undisputed first place with a 5-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles, Cleveland trimmed Detroit 6-0, Washington whipped Boston 7-6 and Kansas City edged Minnesota 5-4.

The Chicago White Sox game at Los Angeles was rained out, the first such postponement in major league history in the California city. Jackson's sparkling performance against the Giants was in line with the fine pitching the Cubs have gotten all season. In five games, all against the Dodgers and Giants, Cub pitchers have a 1.20 earned run average.

McBean pitched the Pirates to their fourth straight, although he left the bases loaded twice and stranded two men in three other innings.

Joey Jay pitched a five hitter for the Reds for eight innings, but three of the hits, singles by Smoky Burgess, Donn Clendenon and Bill Virdon, came in the fourth inning for the only run.

It was Cincinnati's fourth straight defeat after an opening victory.

The St. Louis pitching staff, which had 53 consecutive scoreless innings including the last 21 innings of last season, came down to earth with a thud against the Phillies. Wes Covington doubled home a run in the sixth inning of the opener to snap the string. Charley James tied the score at 3-3 with a Cardinal homer in the ninth, and then Earl Averill's short sacrifice fly in the 10th pushed over the winner.

In the second game, Ray Sa-decki had a 4-0 lead for the Cards until Tony Taylor hit a two-run homer in the seventh and Don Demeter hit another in the two-run eighth. Taylor reached first on Dick Groat's error in the ninth, was sacrificed to second and scored the winner on Demeter's single off relief pitcher Ron Taylor.

Koufax, who has never beaten the Colts in five starts, lost his first against one victory, at Houston. The left-hander was the victim of a four-hit barrage and some sloppy support in the sixth inning.

Mets Blanked Third Time

The poor Mets, still winless, suffered their third shutout in five games. They have scored only three runs, an average of 3.5th of a run per game, and have a team batting average of .124, on 19 hits, a shade under four per game.

Transfer Players Sparkle In American League Action Sunday

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Attention slump-ridden batters:

Shell-shocked pitchers:

Here's what you do. Get a transfer to another major league club. It has done wonders for others. For example, Jerry Walker, Ron Kline, Larry Osborne, Stan Williams and Orlando Pena of the American League.

Walker hurled shutout ball through 4 2-3 innings after coming to the relief of star Jim Grant Sunday and was credited with Cleveland's 6-0 victory over Detroit. Walker was 8-9 at Kansas City last year.

Kline's sparkling four-inning relief stint helped the Washington Senators defeat the Boston Red Sox 7-6. Osborne drove in two runs with a double and sacrifice and scored another Senator run. Kline was 3-6 and Osborne batted .230 at Detroit last year.

Williams tossed 5-Hitter
Williams turned back the Baltimore Orioles 5-1 with a five-hitter as he pitched the New York Yankees into first place. He had a mediocre 12-10 record with Los Angeles last year and wore the goat's horns after walking in the winning run in the Giants' final playoff victory over the Dodgers.

Pena pitched five dazzling relief innings in Kansas City's 5-4 triumph over Minnesota. The Cuban right-hander, a bust with Cincinnati, was rescued by the Athletics from the minors last summer.

A minor miracle occurred in Los Angeles, where the only other AL game was scheduled. Rain washed out the Chicago White Sox and the Angels.

Newly traded players also played key roles in nearly all National League decisions.

Larry Jackson, traded by St. Louis to Chicago, was credited with the Cubs' 3-1 victory over San Francisco. Don Nottebart, swapped by Milwaukee to Houston, pitched the Colts to a 5-4 victory over the Dodgers. Howie Goss, acquired from Pittsburgh, drove in two Col runs with a pair of singles. Ty Cline, late of Cleveland, drove in the only run with a 10th inning single in Milwaukee's 1-0 triumph over the New York Mets. Earl Averill, ex-Agel, drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning in Philadelphia's 4-3 first game triumph over St. Louis. The Phils also won the second game, 5-4.

Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 1-0 as Alvin McBean outpitched Joey Jay.

Sanders Is 4-Stroke Greensboro Open Winner

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A dozen years ago a slim-waisted, skinny 18-year-old from Cedar-town, Ga., arrived unheralded at Durham, N.C., for the Junior Chamber of Commerce National Junior Golf Tournament.

His name was Doug Sanders and his short backswing attracted the attention of purists who marveled at the results he got with what has since become known as the "telephone booth swing." He went on to win the tournament, his first triumph of consequence.

Today, Doug Sanders, now 29, and still slender at 160 pounds, is $5,500 richer for having returned to North Carolina to win the $37,500 Greater Greensboro Optn tournament.

He closed with a two-under-par 69 round Sunday a 270 total, 14 under par, to lead the field by four shots.

Sanders put together rounds of 68-65-68-69—over the 7,000-yard, par 71 Sedgefield Country Club course to miss by one shot tying the tournament record set by Sam Snead, seven-time winner here since 1938.

Second was 41-year-old Jimmy Clark of Huntington Beach, Calif., who closed with his third 68 for a 274 total to win $3,500.

Australian Kel Nagle, who made up four shots in four holes on the back nine playing with Sanders Sunday, finished third at 275, closing with 69 to win $2,400.

Sharing fourth place at 277, were Bob Charles, the New Zealand southpaw; Art Wall and Harold Kneese, each winning $1,766. Snead, Gary Player and Jack McGowan tied for seventh at 278 to win $1,400 each. This brought Snead's winnings in 23 of 24 tournaments here to $27,200 since 1938.

The top money-winners: Doug Sanders $5,500 68-65-68-69—270

International League Starts 80th Season Tuesday Night

By The Associated Press
The International Baseball League, expanded to 10 teams and with seven new managers, opens its 80th season Tuesday night.

Both new teams, Little Rock and Indianapolis, open at home—the Arkansas Travelers entertaining Rochester and Indianapolis playing host to Buffalo.

In the other games, Toronto is at the 1962 pennant winner, Jacksonville; Syracuse at Atlanta, and Columbus at Richmond.

The expansion to 10 teams came about when the American Association folded and the surviving teams were absorbed part by the International and part by the Pacific Coast League. Jacksonville, Atlanta, Little Rock, Indianapolis and Columbus will form the Southern Division and Buffalo, Toronto, Rochester, Syracuse and Richmond the Northern Division.

Teams will play 18 games against clubs in their own division and 16 against those in the other division, making up a 152-game schedule.

Detroit Trims Leafs 3-2 In NHL Playoff

DETROIT (AP)—Reject Alex Faulkner, outshining the Detroit Red Wings' stars in the Stanley Cup finals, holds no grudges against the Toronto Maple Leafs—the team that couldn't use him. "I don't have the least bit of resentment against the Leafs," said the little tow-headed rookie Detroit drafted from the Toronto farm system. "I just like to score goals against them."

Faulkner scored two goals against the Leafs Sunday night and was the Red Wings' lifesaver in the National Hockey League final playoff. The two second-period tallies lifted Detroit to a 3-2 victory and slowed the Leafs' surge toward their second straight Stanley Cup.

"That was a must game for us," said Coach Sid Abel, whose Wings sliced Toronto's lead to 2-1 in the best-of-7 series for the NHL antiquated trophy. "We had to win. If we'd lost, we'd have been dead. There would have been no way to come back, down 3-0."

Faulkner's goals snapped 1-1 and 2-2 ties. It was the third time in the playoffs he'd scored the winning goal. Twice he put in the winner in the semifinal series in which Detroit beat Chicago four straight after losing the first two.

The fourth game Tuesday will be played at Detroit's Olympia Stadium, where the Red Wings lost only once to Toronto in seven regular season games. The fifth game will be played Thursday at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, where the Leafs won the first two games of the series last week by 4-2 scores.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

A lady came up to me at the home show. She said "Theron I sure do enjoy shopping at your store. My grocery money goes so much farther now. When you have a family to raise on a budget it's a problem. Now I can get all the necessities and the little extras which I couldn't afford before."

If you are a thrifty person either by choice or necessity, it would pay you to do what so many of your friends and neighbors have done. Try us once and you will agree Theron's is the place to be (if you want more good food for your dollar).

ALDOM'S DINER

Social Events In Lisbon Area

By ETTA MAE ALEXANDER

The First Christian Church of Lisbon was filled to capacity at the Easter morning worship service to hear Dr. Perry E. Gresham, president of Bethany College, guest speaker.

Dr. Gresham spoke on "As in Adam, All Die".

"Sooner or later everyone must die, but the joy of the resurrection is the promise which remains true and steadfast, despite the changes of time, progress of science and education," he said.

Dr. Gresham said that although this was his first visit to the Lisbon church, most other presidents of Bethany have been here, including the first president of the college, Alexander Campbell, who came to Lisbon in 1827 and with Walter Scott, founded the church.

THE LISBON GARDEN Club will meet Tuesday evening at the youth center in the high school for its guest night program. Hostesses will be Mrs. F. Jay Moore and Mrs. John Noble.

The annual public salmon supper of the C.W.F. of the First Christian Church will be held Wednesday evening in the church. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

The salmon is furnished by the Yakima Christian Indian Mission of White Swan, Wash., and the proceeds of the free-will offering will be sent to the mission.

MRS. C. JACK RUTTER and son, Gary, of E. Chestnut St. have returned home after a visit the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hatfield of Waynesfield, O., and Mr. Rutter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rutter of Lima.

Miss Annabelle Libby of Cleveland, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Libby of W. Lincoln Way, for the Easter holidays, returned to her home Sunday. Miss Libby is librarian of Onaway School, Shaker Heights.

MRS. GEORGE M. NACE Sr. of E. Lincoln Way and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Nace Jr. and children, Dike and Heidi of N. Park Place, have returned from Marion, Ind., where they visited with their son and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nace.

Mrs. Alice Beck of Salem spent the Easter weekend with her son, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Beck and children, Gayle and Lee, of W. Washington St.

DrugTax
A SERVICE TO TAXPAYERS

Ever wish, at income tax time, that you had a complete record of every cent you spent for drugs and drug products throughout the year—and how much of it was legally deductible?

That kind of a record could save you money. And that kind of a record can now be yours, every year, absolutely free of charge.

This new service is called DrugTax. We are making it available to all of our customers immediately, free of charge, as another way of saying "thank you" for their patronage.

You would be surprised at the number of drug and medical supplies that can be of a deductible nature—items such as antiseptics, aspirin, cough and cold preparations, and hundreds of others.

Indeed, the American taxpayer has been losing millions of dollars annually because he hasn't been aware of how many drug items are legally deductible.

But you must be able to offer proof of purchase in order to claim such items in preparing your federal income tax return. And when you buy from us, you get that proof—in the form of an annual record, mailed in February.

Come in today and let us tell you more about DrugTax. And from now on, buy all of your drug and medical supplies from the store that gives you the free DrugTax record.

Many of our customers don't realize how many products they buy from us may be deductible. Not only prescriptions, but also - - -

ALKALIZERS	DECONGESTANTS	LAXATIVES

COUGH and COLD PREPARATIONS	FUNGICIDES	PRESCRIBED VITAMINS

- - - and many many other items.

But to claim all of these items as deductions on your federal tax return, the Internal Revenue Service requires proof of purchase. Our Drug Tax Service is designed to provide the required proof of purchase.

PERENNIALS — The Nelson family — Harriet, Dave, Ozzie and Rick — appear to be among the "indestructibles" in the entertainment field. Their family-type show auditioned first on radio in 1944. The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Complications From Mumps

Mumps is a painful swelling of the parotid salivary gland on one or both sides, and is due to a virus. The virus is spread by means of infected saliva which may get into the air in the form of minute droplets when a person with mumps talks, laughs or sneezes. Eating utensils freshly contaminated with infected saliva may also be a means of spreading the disease.

A vaccine is available but is rarely used, because the immunity it confers lasts only about two years and many doctors believe that a child should be allowed to have the mumps and get it over with. This attitude is based on two premises: first, that the disease is relatively harmless in early childhood (it is more serious after puberty); second, that an attack will confer lifelong immunity.

ALTHOUGH generally true, there are exceptions to both premises. Mumps causes a meningitis or encephalitis (brain fever) in some children and, although it is usually mild and recovery is prompt, in rare instances it leaves the child deaf in one ear. In adolescents and adults mumps may cause acute inflammation of the sex glands (testicles or ovaries).

This is much more likely to occur in boys than in girls, and is prevented by strict bed rest during the acute stage of the parotid infection. Uncomfortable as this complication is, it does not interfere with parenthood later in life.

Regardless of whether the parotid gland is involved on both sides or only on one side, the amount of immunity conferred by an attack is not as lasting as in the case of measles or chickenpox. Second attacks are not uncommon. This is an added reason not to expose a child to mumps deliberately. In the course of his mild attack he may pass a severe attack on to an adult.

WHEN MUMPS occurs in a child it may, therefore, be advisable to give the vaccine to the teen-agers and adults in the family, although by this time it may be too late. It would be more important to avoid close contact and to boil the dishes the child uses. Many an adult who believes he had mumps in childhood really had some other disease of the parotid glands, or may even have had an inflammation of the lymph nodes in the neck that was misdiagnosed as mumps. This is another reason an adult should not carelessly expose himself to mumps.

As implied above, the best way to prevent the complications of mumps is to enforce strict bed rest during the acute stage of the disease. This is always a problem in dealing with a normally active child, and much of your success will depend on how carefully you have laid the groundwork of cheerful obedience by your child.

YOUR SUCCESS will also depend in part on how much time you can devote to being with your child during the time he has to stay in bed. If you can read to him and provide quiet games and quiet ways for him to amuse himself, you can keep him reasonably happy, without unduly close contact.

As soon as the hard swelling begins to soften and recede you can encourage gradually increasing activity.

Farm News

Emergency Program

The federal emergency livestock feed program under which drought-stricken, feed-short Columbiana County farmers may obtain surplus corn will end June 30, according to Earl S. Lora, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service at Lisbon.

Farmers wanting the Commodity Credit Corporation corn for feeding livestock may still apply for the grain up to June 1, if they can show a definite need for it, he said.

So far Columbiana County has received 14 carloads of ear corn from CCC granaries, bolstering the area feed supply by 28 tons since the first corn arrived in mid-November at the E. W. Dickey Co. in Lisbon.

In the past five months 125 farmers applied for the grain, Lora reports, 100 of whom were approved to receive it. Many of the farmers who received the corn said they would have been hard-pressed to provide feed for their stock if the grain hadn't been provided at low cost by the government. Last summer's drought severely reduced corn yield in some sections of the county.

Lora said a farmer who applies on May 1, for example, will be eligible for the feed over only a 60-day period rather than the former 90-day period.

Ohio Girl Is Voted 'Miss Teen U.S.A.'

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A pretty Ohio teenager is reigning happily as "Miss Teen U.S.A." today.

Judy Adams, 16, broke into tears Saturday night when she was announced as the winner over five other finalists. She was chosen as the girl who typifies the best in American youth.

Her prizes include a new car, a part in a Hollywood movie, a $1,000 wardrobe, a Canadian vacation and a year's supply of beauty aids and cosmetics.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Karol Adams of Parma, a Cleveland suburb.

FIRE CHIEF SUSPENDED

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Brunswick Fire Chief Carlton Erdman is under five days suspension for using the city's new emergency vehicle without the permission of the safety-service director.

Duane Fish, the safety director, said Sunday night he suspended the chief Saturday because he used the vehicle before it was fully equipped. Fish said a fully-trained rescue squad member is supposed to man the vehicle and the department's squad is still in training.

LIQUOR STORE BURGLARIZED

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — An inventory was being made today to determine the value of the loot burglars took from the state liquor store at Elmore in Ottawa County.

Missing after a preliminary check Sunday were nine or ten cases of liquor which had been packed for consignment to other stores. The Highway Patrol said the burglars broke a glass in the front window to get in.
